

Climate change and sustainability education

The links to climate change and sustainability education throughout the EYFS profile and National Curriculum are not explicit, despite the 2022 Sustainability and climate change strategy outlining the importance of educating our pupils about this area. There are links to the natural world and understanding of weather but there is no mention of climate change, sustainability, pollution or habitat protection. Similarly, the Ofsted inspection framework has no mention of this area. However, the Foundation for Educational Development (FED) has developed a tool to map the connections that could be made across the EYFS and primary curriculum that can be found here.
